

The total number of incidents reflects actions taken by the police department in response to requests for service. One police response often times requires multiple police actions.

Historically warm weather months consistently increase the number of and complexity of the calls for service. Noise complaints, and motor vehicle crashes due to the increased traffic load on the roadway account for the nominal increase in activity.

